

BLACK PLOT TO EXTORT HUSH MONEY

MOTHER-IN-LAW OF PALMERO GETS THREATENING LETTER DEMANDING $500 OR EXPOSE OF MURDER PAST.

GIRL IS BLACKMAILER?

Italian Maid Tells Police She Wrote Letter Not for Money, But on Hunch Women Were Guilty.

The United States government yesterday became interested in the result of a Black Hand blackmail case involving a girl who had been through which an Italian woman sought to extort hush money from Mrs. Matilda Boschi, mother-in-law of the murder victim, but the clever work of a smooth postoffice inspector smothered the game and today she has been sent to the penitentiary for a bona fide signed confession in his possession.

Mrs. Marie (Frank) Romano, 22 years old, 126 South Pearl street, wife of a black boss in the Janesville (Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul) railway car chit, wrote the letters. She demanded fifty dollars and threatened to expose the aged Italian woman's alleged part in what the writer claimed a conspiracy of the family to murder John D. Wickliffe, United States postoffice inspector from the Chicago federal office, after hours of denials and lying which she could not bear.

In Federal Charge. Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

Wickliffe this morning swore to a federal warrant for the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano and to the United States marshal to arrest Mrs. Romano.

President's Thanksgiving Proclamation

President Wilson's proclamation designating November 30 as Thanksgiving Day is as follows:

It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us and the nation.

The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but has been darkened by war in the midst of our peace and happiness.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 30th of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer and urge and advise the people to assist in the observance of this day by their worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity.

Our people could in no better way show their attitude toward the nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought upon the world.

By the President, ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State.

President Wilson's proclamation designating November 30 as Thanksgiving Day is as follows:

It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us and the nation.

The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but has been darkened by war in the midst of our peace and happiness.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 30th of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer and urge and advise the people to assist in the observance of this day by their worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity.

REDUCED BUYING OF WHEAT FOR EUROPE RESULTS IN SLUMP

December and May Options Suffer Losses During Week of From 4 1/2 to 6 1/2—Peace Talk a Factor.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Peace talk and falling off in export buying, did a good deal in last week to ease off the wheat market. December and May the chief speculative options, suffered net losses of 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

ANGRE DRIVE CONTINUED BY BRITISH

ADVANCE NORTHEAST OF BEAUMONT-HAMEL AND NORTH OF EAUCOURT IN LATEST FIGHTING.

SERBS WIN TRENCHES

Capture Eight Hundred Yards of Enemy's Works on Macedonian Front—Battle Still Rages Near Campulung.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

London, Nov. 18.—Renewing their attacks near the Angre river, on the French front, the British last night made further gains, it is announced officially, northeast of Beaumont-Hamel and north of Eaucourt.

HUGHES WINS OUT IN MINNESOTA BY SMALL PLURALITY

State Originally Claimed by Wilson by Ten Thousand Gives Hughes 396 Majority on Final Count.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—Hughes has carried the electoral vote of Minnesota by the narrow margin of 396 votes.

EXTRA! FAVORS PLAN TO PREVENT FUTURE WAR

FOOTBALL

Princeton, O; Yale 10; final. Harvard, O; Brown, 14; 3d period. Minnesota, 19; Wisconsin, 0; 2nd period.

Chicago, 14; Illinois, 0; 1st period. Michigan, O; Penn, 7; 1st period. Case, O; Ohio, 7; 2d period.

Edgerton Wins the State Championship

Tobacco City Football Players Defeat Marquette Academy Team on Muddy Field 6 to 0.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—Edgerton high school football team defeated the Marquette Academy eleven by a score of six to nothing, and thereby claim the state championship for preparatory schools.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—Edgerton high school football team defeated the Marquette Academy eleven by a score of six to nothing, and thereby claim the state championship for preparatory schools.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—Edgerton high school football team defeated the Marquette Academy eleven by a score of six to nothing, and thereby claim the state championship for preparatory schools.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—Edgerton high school football team defeated the Marquette Academy eleven by a score of six to nothing, and thereby claim the state championship for preparatory schools.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 18.—Edgerton high school football team defeated the Marquette Academy eleven by a score of six to nothing, and thereby claim the state championship for preparatory schools.

FAVORS PLAN TO PREVENT FUTURE WAR

PREMIER BORDEN OF CANADA ADVOCATES WORLD PEACE LEAGUE IN SPEECH IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, spoke at a luncheon in his honor at the Lawyers club in this city today, discussing the influence of the European war on Canada, the determination of his countrymen to carry their part in the great conflict, through to the end, the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and on the ideal of an ultimate scheme of self-mastery among the nations of the world, to prevent war.

(Published Saturdays.)

likewise you should note the alignment of driving shaft.

spent Monday afternoon at the E. A. Smith home. Her daughter, Miss states directly effected and no doubt will mean much to them. The ques

"Pig!" said Jean once more.

II.

The two determined men, each armed with a 1903 model sling shot, faced each other on the road, the larger of the two turning to them, the beautiful Ilat Ease was hiding palpitantly behind a pommie tree.

"Fire!" came the sharp voice of the man in the hat.

Two pebbles hissed through the air simultaneously, and there was a sickening tinkle. Ilat rushed, his screaming, to get Ilat to hide; his screaming, to get Ilat to prove that the missile had struck his Sissens-brush wrist watch (for sale at all drug stores, guaranteed for eight days). And he did not even flinch.

The two men, honor satisfied, left the field just as the gentlemen arrived, Ilat Ease clinging

The motor car owner who puts his storage battery in our care for the winter has nothing to worry about. If he uses his car during cold weather, he can be sure of good starting and lighting. If he simply stores his battery here, he knows it will be very much alive when Spring comes.

Ask for our pamphlet on Winter Care of Batteries.

JANESVILLE CONTRACTING CO.

Office at Janesville Electric Co.

Installation of any battery at any time.

states directly effected and no doubt will mean much to them. The ques spent Monday afternoon at the E. A. Smith home. Her daughter, Miss

(Copyrighted.)

It was along toward the middle of the season in 1885 that a solid built young man of some sixteen or seventeen years of age applied to Adam Forepaugh, Jr., for a position with his show.

Forepaugh thought he was too young and tried to discourage him. But he saw that the young man was fixed in his determination to travel with the show, and he might be the kind that would make him a good assistant in the training of the "bulls," as they called it with the circus business, which meant the elephants.

He gave the young man the position and put him to work. This was the start in the business of the young man whose name was Ed Holder, and whose home at the time was in Battle Creek, Mich. That was the commencement of young Holder's life work in show business, for he was still on the road and has traveled practically the world over several times.

Last Friday evening, I stepped into the corridor of the Hotel Myers and across the room in the other corner a man waved his hand and called "Hi, Ed." Dave, I was soon over to where I could get a look at him, and saw that it was Ed. Holder, whom I had only met once in more than twenty-five years. As soon as I saw his face, I recognized him the first thing, and said: "Ed, how is the mule?" "Well," he said, "that is a good thing. You are like every other countryman that I meet. They never seem to ask how I am, but it is always, 'Ed, how's the mule.'"

Holder had the best educated mule in the country, and I said: "Ed, it is no wonder that the mule asks for the mule, for there are only two of you in the family, and the mule is the bread winner."

Mr. Holder and I were soon visiting over old days and incidents. He said: "There is no question about the mule being all right, Ebenezer, as we call him, as long as he can get enough to eat. He can certainly eat more than any two mules I ever saw. He has the capacity of a corn crib."

"Then," I said, "if I were you, I should change his name, for Ebenezer is not becoming to a mule." When he asked me what name I would suggest, I told him I would suggest "Silo" because of his capacity to store away things, and thought that "Silo" would be a good name for him.

Mr. Holder and his mule were here to fill an engagement of three days, after which they went back to Chicago for three days, and from there to Marion, Indiana. They had an engagement of two weeks at the big Toronto, Canada exposition this fall.

Mrs. Tabort, Mrs. J. Tabort, who were the only ones to be produced by the Kirsaly Brothers, who were the greatest spectacular producers of their time. Mrs. Tabort is now over seventy years of age. She is a Socialist family and many of the others who took part in the above mentioned program.

Another week and the big Barnum & Bailey show will be widely scattered over most of them continuing their rotation behind the footlights, and the various theatrical circuits, and a great number of them will return to the stage to rest up for the winter. The Charlie Siegrist troupe, including Mrs. and Mrs. Siegrist, Toby Thomas, Tom Beckman and the others, will return immediately after the season closes for Buenos Aires, S. A. to fulfill vaudeville contracts which will keep them busy for a whole winter. Mr. Johnson also will enter vaudeville. He will oper in New York with his own company of six people in the Hart and Hart troupe. The direction of Joe Shea. The act should be a big hit for "Spader day evening of last week. A box so-

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 18.—The appointment is announced of Baron Kuertly to the newly created post of Minister of Food Dictator for Hungary. The new official, whose post is regarded as of almost equal importance to that of a cabinet minister, is practically unknown in the capital. He has held for some time past the position of governor of a Northern province, where his work won the admiration of the peasantry.

"Made in U.S.A."

$6.75

Automobile
Robe

Quality—Service
—Satisfaction

Guaranteed
Wallace & Smith
MOTOR
WEAVE
Automobile Robes

Size, 60x30 inches
5 lbs. of real warmth. Ideal for automobile and all outdoor uses.

6 COLOR DESIGNS

Supplied in Navy Green, Navy Blue, Silver
Gray, Seal Brown, Maroon and Olive Drab
(U. S.)

Guaranteed unconditionally to give absolute satisfaction.

For Sale By
T. R. COSTIGAN
Corn Exchange

A black and white advertisement for automobile robes. On the right, a man in a sailor-style uniform (hat, dark jacket, light-colored breeches and puttees) holds a large, rectangular robe with a plaid or checkered pattern. A large '$6.75' is printed on the robe. To the left of the man, the text 'Automobile Robes' is written in a stylized font, with 'MOTOR' and 'WEAVE' in large, bold letters. Below this, it says 'Automobile Robes' and 'Size, 60x30 inches'. Further down, it states '5 lbs. of real warmth. Ideal for automobile and all outdoor uses.' and '6 COLOR DESIGNS'. At the bottom, it says 'Supplied in Navy Green, Navy Blue, Silver Gray, Seal Brown, Maroon and Olive Drab (U. S.)' and 'Guaranteed unconditionally to give absolute satisfaction.' The very bottom line reads 'For Sale By T. R. COSTIGAN Corn Exchange'. In the top right corner, there is a circular inset illustration showing a vintage car parked in front of a building, with several people standing around it.

The Janesville Gazette

New Bldg 200-201 E. Milwaukee St.

PUBLISHED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WIS., AN SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

Members of Associated Press.

Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Member of Wisconsin Daily League.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and Sunday. Warmer tonight east and south portions, slightly colder Sunday north portion.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Used to let his poor old mother go and carry in the wood, she was just a packhorse for him, but he never understood. Never thought of bringing water from the spring down by the line, or of helping her to gather in the clover before the rain. Let her keep a watch on him, though her back was aching. It wasn't 'cause he didn't love her—he just didn't think, you know.

Then he went away and married—left her. He didn't want her. She didn't want her. And he carried in the kindling, and he built the fire, too. And to tell the truth, I dunno what there was he didn't do. Had to hustle now, I tell you! Got to thinkin', too, at last. That he might of been a little more thoughtful in the past.

After while the weary mother put her burdens all away. And we went and heard the preacher. He praised her poor old soul one day. And I stood and looked down at her when they pushed the lid aside. Poor old hands! I didn't wonder that her boy sat there and cried. Just as if he couldn't bear it—just as if he heard her break—He had kind of got to seein' what she'd suffered for his sake.

There's a lot of kinds of sinnin' that the Good Book tells about—Sins concernin' which a body needn't ever be in doubt. But there's one sin that I reckon many a man who doesn't think. Will be held to strict account for when he goes across the brink—For the wronging of a person by another's want of thought hurts as much as though the injured was the victim of a plot! —Pacific Ensign.

We never expect the child to do much thinking and are always prepared for the answer. "I didn't think," but there are plenty of us empty people who go through life with empty "think tanks."

Much of the ordinary work of life is routine work. Some one does the thinking and planning and we become "hewers of stone and carriers of water," directed by the minds in control.

The age in which we live is an age of invention and discovery, and because of this fact the ordinary work of life is made easier. The machine is doing the work of the hand, and while the brain behind the hand may be sluggish and inactive, the brain back of the machine is a labor-saving producer.

The superintendent of a large factory was showing a visitor through the plant, a time ago. He stopped to watch a machine in action and the manager said, "That machine saves $25,000 a year." "Where did you get it?" was the question, and the answer was: "Oh, it came from the brain of one of our workmen, who is an inventive genius. The man came home from a duck shooting trip, a while ago, with his head full of ideas, and this is the result."

This little incident suggests the thought that there are two channels open to young men when they stand at the threshold of active life. One, the "creative," the other the "routine." The latter captures all the deft fingers who enter the arena without thought, and with no definite purpose.

It is the channel where unskilled labor finds employment, in the industrial world, and where an army of clerks and office men are expected to do the work of the commercial world. The channel where competition is strong, because experience and marked ability are not demanded, and as a result, vacancies are easily filled.

The people who suffer most, in times like the present, when the necessities of life have become luxuries, are the salaried people, for salaries, unlike wages, seldom admit of a limit on the salary list, and salaries for routine work remain stationary.

A shoe clerk in Chicago had been with one firm for fifteen years. The limit of salary was eighteen dollars a week, and this had been his pay for the past ten years, but there was no future for him, and his income barely supported his family.

His neighbor, next door, was a skilled mechanic earning thirty dollars a week. He owned his home and lived comfortably. In talking over conditions the clerk said to his neighbor, "I am paying the price for a general occupation which demands good clothes and a good appearance."

"If I had devoted a little time to thought when I started out for myself, I would have secured clear of the routine channel, and devoted energy to making myself useful in the channel which creates things."

The principle which means success, in any large degree, is the principle which causes two blades of grass to grow where one grew before. The man who can add volume to business, is a creator of business, and worth more than the man who ties up the packages in the store.

The pathway of life is lined with regrets. While the boy may recover from mistakes caused by the lapse of memory, and a few sessions with his father in the woodshed, may help him to think, not so the man who has assumed the responsibilities of a home, and commenced to work out a destiny.

The starting point of life, for the boy, is the all important point, and every parent, as well as every teacher, should be interested in seeing to it that the boy starts right, while the boy himself should be stimulated to do a little sober thinking for himself.

The best girl can afford to wait for the boy until he has time to settle the question of a life occupation, and prepare himself for work. Better to dream about the home nest until it is ready to occupy than drift into it unprepared, and face an existence of privation and bitter disappointment. The world is full of object lessons.

and the knowledge to be acquired through observation is so easy to obtain, that every young man should possess it. The question of a start at ten dollars a week, in any line of work, is not the important question. It may mean a ten dollar job for a term of years.

The important question is: What does this line of work mean for the future? What are its possibilities, and can I make myself a cog in the wheel that can not be spared?

The world is also full of opportunities, but they are rarely captured by drifters. They are prizes which come to the boy who thinks. God gave us a brain as well as a hand, and both are for use.

The base of the age is thoughtlessness. We have just passed through an exciting political campaign, where the popular vote was very evenly divided. An army of men, who voted to continue the present administration in power, have forgotten the bread line and soup kitchens of three years ago.

They know that the abnormal prosperity which is now cursing the nation, will suddenly end, when peace is declared, and that the months of readjustment to follow, under a free trade regime, will be months of idleness and privation.

There will not be much satisfaction or comfort in the statement, "I didn't think," when history repeats itself, as it is very likely to do in the next four years, when the question will not be the length of the work day, or the scale of wages, but a chance to work anywhere at any price.

Society, the church, and the home, suffer through thoughtlessness. Moral standards are lowered, because there are so many people who do not think, and the church simply exists, in many communities, because of thoughtless neglect. The home, which should always be a paradise, is often a purgatory, for the same reason.

If there is any spot on earth, which is sacred and where loving thought should pay spontaneous tribute, that spot is the home. It is hard enough to say "good bye," when the last long sleep closes the eyes of our loved ones forever. It must be infinitely worse when regret mingles with the sorrow.

REPUBLICAN PARTY GETS HARD REBUKE

WESTERN STATES RALLIED TO UPHOLD HANDS OF PRESIDENT IN A DECISIVE MANNER.

BIG JOB FOR PHILIPP

Governor Still Has Chance to Give Wisconsin a Business Administration, Says Ellis B. Usher.

By Ellis B. Usher. Milwaukee, Nov. 18.—The election seems to be settled in favor of Mr. Wilson, although the friends of Mr. Hughes, who are supposed to have staked millions on the result, are counting and checking, and hoping against hope. Just before election the New York Times estimated that $10,000,000 were up in wagers. One sport in Milwaukee has $75,000 in stakes in his hands. The Republican money was, most of it, wagered at pretentious odds, too, so they hate to "let go."

As Onalaska Goes. Tim days of my small boyhood were spent in the town of Onalaska, about five miles north of La Crosse. My father was a Republican in 1855, and attended the Republican convention of 1858 that nominated Alexander Randall for governor and Carl Schurz for lieutenant governor. For many years he took pride in talking to La Crosse the Republican returns of the village and town of Onalaska, and his anti-Union formula in announcing the triumph always was: "As goes Onalaska, so goes the Union!" On November 7 Onalaska city and town both went for the first time in history, for a Democratic president. It is a pleasure to me to know that Onalaska is still in vanguard for freedom. The result there typifies the general result. It stands for upholding the hands of the government of the United States against all assaults, native or alien. It signified that the Republican party, which was born and gained its first success in the west, and was led by Wisconsin in 1855, has felt the heavy hand of American disapproval here, as well as all over the newer west, where the prairies, the plains and the mountains smote it for indelity. It is an overturning that makes the country west of the Mississippi look like a Republican desert.

A Momentous Election. No quality momentous election has occurred since 1864, when Mr. Lincoln was sustained, after long months of intrigue and attack some of which centered in his own cabinet. The losers may spend their time, if they like, in recriminations. They may try to locate the hole that engulfed them, but to the American whose love of liberty and belief in free institutions of this country transcends all other considerations, there is a deeper meaning and a profound satisfaction. That satisfaction rests on the supreme demonstration that all assaults, whether of race, class, religious bigotry or factional politics, were swallowed up in a result so broad, so far reaching, and so emphatic in the spirit of the real American freedom, that all else disappears into the rubbish heap of a most unrighteous campaign against the government of the United States. The people of the west understood. They have demonstrated their faith and their lack of fear. They know that the country is safe, because they will insure it.

In Wisconsin the situation was practically covered last week. The "reputed Republican party" of this state will perform at Madison this winter and that "child" (Philipp) shall lose the election. "Bob" is willing. It will be even more difficult this winter than last, but Mr. Philipp will find that the people expect more of him than they did before, and if he does not perform with "a reunited party" now can he lay the blame on "Bob?"

Skeptical On Lower Taxes. I have been very skeptical, and I

A DEPENDABLE REMEDY

HOSTETTER'S Stomach Bitters

For Poor Appetite, Nausea, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Fever and Ague

Sixty Years the Standard

BAKING POWDER

Made from cream of tartar derived from grapes.

NO ALUM

am not alone, about lower taxes, and I have seen a figure calculated to convince anybody that they are or can possibly be lower, until they are reduced by law. What people want to see is evidence that the cost of government is less. They know income taxes will be a million higher; that the university and the public schools will have an automatic increase of something like $300,000; that automobile licenses are two or three hundred thousand dollars bigger than last year; that the railroads will pay something like a half million more on Mr. Phillips' $300,000 and $30,000 amounts vanish rapidly under such assurance. Where does it all go to? It is all "state taxes," every cent of it. It all goes to Madison, and according to Henry Johnson, says about 30 per cent roll there, just for handling, even if it eventually goes back to the counties. There is still opportunity for Mr. Philipp to give us a real "business administration."

The statistics of the recent election are not yet available, but when they are made will be opportunity for very interesting study. A few things are plain. If the Socialists polled over a million and a quarter votes, Mr. Hughes probably lacks 1,750,000 votes or more of a popular majority, and he lacks something like half a million or more of a popular plurality. The indications are that the total vote will be over 17,000,000 rather than under that unprecedented figure. The suggestion that the interest was most intense, and when we find states that went for Wilson giving Republican candidates for governor overwhelming majorities, as in California and elsewhere, it looks as if the American people voted with great discrimination and intelligence.

Small College Eleven. There is one thing that the new football rules have demonstrated conclusively, this year. It is that they equalize the small and the large college. Ten years ago a small college never did more than to hold a big university to a fairly reasonable score; say forty or fifty to nothing. Today the smaller college always has a chance and usually a good one. Chicago was beaten decisively by Carlton, a school in Minnesota unknown to football. Colgate, Washington and Jefferson and others in the east make the large schools uncomfortable at every turn. Locust, North Division High School, a small but snappy, well drilled team, won the city championship from teams greater in superior in weight and experience by light knowledge of the rules and cleverly conceived and coached plays. The new rules have made a new and better game of football.

SHOW DECIDED INCREASE IN THE BANK RESERVES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] New York, Nov. 18.—The statement of actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week, shows that they held $78,987,080 reserves in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $18,971,170 from last week.

Want Ads bring quick results.

A MENU composed of a Nice Variety of appetizing dishes awaits your order for our

Sunday Dinner

Plan to eat here with your family tomorrow.

Savoy Cafe

"Ever Warm" Chamois Lined Coats and Vests

Just the thing for Hunting, Motoring, Driving, Fishing and general out-of-door wear.

You whom business or pleasure calls to the great outdoors, here's the garment that will give you genuine comfort and enduring service. The Everwarm has warmth without weight—it provides ample protection against even the coldest weather, yet is not bulky or awkward. When you wear it, you can move with perfect ease and freedom. Worn under an ordinary overcoat, it will keep you as warm as a fur lined coat.

R. M. BOSTWICK & SON
MERCHANTS OF FINE CLOTHES
MAIN STREET AT NUMBER SEVEN SOUTH

MAY CALL ELECTION IF OWEN QUILTS NOW

Madison, Wis., Nov. 18.—The announcement that Attorney General Owen will probably resign has raised an interesting point of law. It is now claimed that should the attorney general resign before Jan. 1, that the position would have to be filled by an election, because the new term would not begin until Jan. 1 and the vacancy would have occurred before he had commenced his term. If, however, the attorney general did not resign until Jan. 1, it would be possible for the governor to fill the office without an election.

The possibility of Owen's resignation is still the leading topic of discussion in political circles here. Already many people have been making inquiries of the governor's friends about the filling of the position. No statement can be had from the governor, because he is still absent on a hunting trip.

Miss Geraldine Maude Brace

VOICE CULTURE

Room 3, Phoebe Block.

R. C. Phone 674 Blue.

Rehberg's

Janesville's Greatest Overcoat Store

You can find more fine overcoats here than in any other store in Southern Wisconsin. All the new models are shown, Pinch Backs, Loose Backs, Balmorale models and others.

Extraordinary values are offered in this overcoat stock, $15, $17.50 and $22.

The very finest ready-to-wear overcoats made are produced by Hirsch-Wickwire and sell for $25 and $30 at this store.

E. B. LOOFBORO D.D.S.

Pyrorrhea and Oral Prophylaxis (the prevention of mouth diseases) a specialty. 506 Jackson Block. Both Phones

Gold Fish Globes

1 gallon..... $.50
2 gallons..... .75
3 gallons..... 1.00

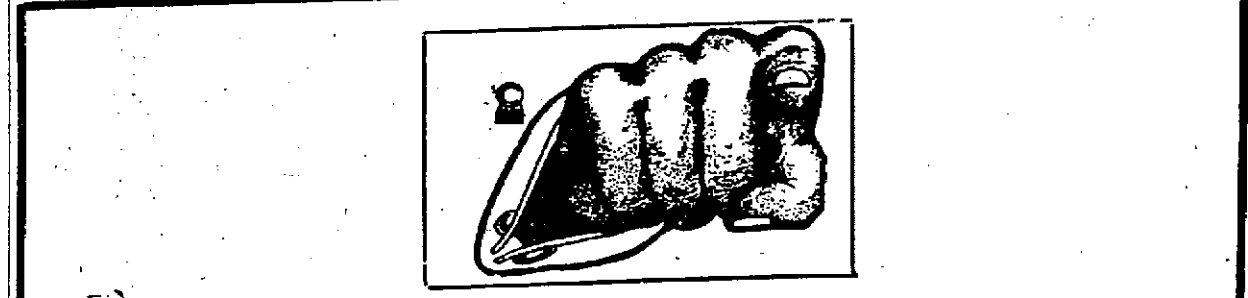

Fish Food..... 10c
Castles..... 15c and 25c
Nice Fresh Sea Weed, 10c per bundle.

SMITH'S PHARMACY

The Rexall Store

Kodaks and Kodak Supplies.

Lost and found articles quickly find their owners through the use of the want columns.

We Want You to Buy our Cheapest And Best Life Policies

If you are 25 years of age it will cost you $16.61 per thousand dollars. After three years you can draw out a large proportion of the premiums you have paid in if you wish to discontinue the policy.

Older ages at slightly increased rates.

C. P. BEERS, AGENT

2nd Floor Jackson Bldg. Both Phones.

When you think of insurance, think of C. P. Beers.

A Great Loss and a Greater Gain

This business has rounded out twenty-two months of existence by distributing to owners more than one hundred thousand cars.

Price-concessions on this car are rarely asked, and never given with Dodge Brothers consent or to their knowledge.

You can therefore figure accurately the amount invested by the public in Dodge Brothers cars, by multiplying the output by the retail selling price.

One hundred thousand cars at $785 per car means a sales-total in less than two years' time of $78,500,000—or, with freight-cost added, considerably more than $80,000,000.

There have been no bursts of speed in the up-building of this great business.

At no time has there been even an attempt at stimulation of sales or of production.

Never for a single day has production been speeded up for the sake of attaining a total.

On the contrary, it has been held down every day within the limits of close, careful, conscientious manufacturing.

Both production and sales have been stable, steady and spontaneous—scrupulous care in the one, producing huge volume in the other.

At this moment, as at every other period, although producing a large

The gasoline consumption is unusually low. The tire mileage is unusually high.

JANESVILLE AUTOMOBILE CO.

18 South Bluff Street, Across From Park Hotel
Rock County Phone, Red 296. Bell, 264

The price of the Touring Car or Roadster, complete, is $785 (f. o. b. Detroit)

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster, complete, including regular mohair top, is $950 (f. o. b. Detroit)

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster, complete, including regular mohair top, is $950 (f. o. b. Detroit)

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster, complete, including regular mohair top, is $950 (f. o. b. Detroit)

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster, complete, including regular mohair top, is $950 (f. o. b. Detroit)

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster, complete, including regular mohair top, is $950 (f. o. b. Detroit)

SCENE FROM THE FIRST ACT IN THE NEW VICTOR HERBERT COMIC OPERA, "THE PRINCESS PAT," MISS BLANCHE DUFFIELD SINGING THE OPENING NUMBER. NEW MYERS THEATRE, SUNDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Nov. 18.—Messadames M. L. Karney and S. Broderick and Miss Davis were visitors in Janesville Friday.

Mrs. D. M. Austin spent Friday in Ottumwa, visiting her mother and sister, Mrs. A. L. Karney and Miss Karney.

Mrs. Arthur Dooley was a visitor in Janesville Friday.

Mrs. E. J. Dodge left Friday for a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Conner in Rockford.

Mrs. Robert Seales of Sylvester township, is visiting Mrs. D. Gombur, Messadames A. L. Allan and "Brig" Gittenacker were passengers to Beloit Friday.

Mrs. W. W. Lawyer and daughter, Mrs. Van Marsh visited in Janesville Friday.

Messadames M. M. Lyons and F. K. Vance visited friends in Hanover Friday.

Mrs. and Mrs. George Colton and daughter, Lillian, went to Chicago Friday to spend a few days with relatives.

Ed. Sabins and Miss Ella Bunney departed Friday for the north, where they expect to locate in Barren County.

Miss Rensselaer went to her home in Whitewater Friday for a brief stay.

The dancing party at the Opera House on Friday evening was largely attended and a good time was had by those present.

NOTICE—Gazette is on sale in Brodhead at Miller's News Stand.

Evansville News

Evansville, Nov. 18.—Miss Vera Johnson entertained this evening at her home. The guests were all members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist church.

Miss Margaret Gillies entertained last evening in honor of Miss Brady of Minneapolis.

Miss Florence McWay of Rock Prairie is spending the week end with Miss Ethel C. Hoag of this city. Miss McWay was formerly an instructor in our local high school.

Miss Lucille Harrington of Baraboo is a week end visitor and guest of Miss Gladys Miller.

Miss Ethel C. Hoag entertains this evening at a card party, given in honor of Miss McWay, who is visiting here.

Miss Helen Poppe of Janesville is a local visitor.

Mrs. Adelle E. Combs was a Madison visitor yesterday.

Floyd Neff spent Friday and Saturday in Madison, where he visited at University High school.

The local C. R. held a coffee this afternoon at their hall.

Leslie Blinn is assistant clerk at the Central House.

Miss Noble Cushman entertained the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon. The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church served a chicken pie supper last evening. A large attendance was on hand.

Miss Martha Davis entertained the Epworth League of the Methodist church last evening.

Wilva Phillips of Clinton is spending the week end with relatives in this city.

Pearl Blinn is on the sick list.

Miss Barbara Pearsall returned from Madison for a week end visit with her parents.

W. W. Davis was a Madison visitor yesterday. He called at the capitol and visited his niece, Miss Clara Haskins.

The afternoon club met yesterday afternoon at the library and enjoyed a fine program.

Miss Ruth Winston returned to Burlington today.

On Wednesday, of next week the members of K. of P. No. 56 will hold their annual hunt. Twenty-eight members will participate. They will scout the vicinity of Evansville for all kinds of game. For each bird or animal shot points will be scored in

A CERTIFICATE of DEPOSIT WILL DRAW

4%

INTEREST

if left in this bank twelve months.

The Grange Bank
EVANSVILLE, WIS.

Edgerton News

MILWAUKEE DENIES THE WROTE FOOTBALL ARTICLE.

Edgerton, Nov. 18.—One of the Milwaukee papers printed an article on their sporting sheet yesterday that the Edgerton football team was signed by Coach Craven of the North Division High School. Superintendent Edgerton took the matter with Mr. Craven over the telephone and he denied having published the article and stated the parties who caused the article to be published were being sought and if found out the proper punishment would be dealt out to them. Edgerton people are justly proud of the boys who participate in athletics in the high school.

The switch engine was withdrawn from service this morning temporarily on account of shortage of coal at Madison.

Miss Mary Finner of Delavan is a week end guest at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Hooton.

C. W. Gifford of Chicago, formerly instructor in the high school of this city is a week end visitor at the home of friends.

Mrs. J. Dickinson and sister, Miss Iva Tracy and Miss Maria Johnson, who are those who called on Janesville friends today.

The wrecking crew on the St. Paul railroad passed through this station yesterday enroute for Middleton where the engine was off the track. The engine left the rails and turned over on its side. Fortunately no one was injured.

Miss Carrie Dixon spent the week end with friends at the Whitewater Normal School.

Miss Gertrude Hyland of Stoughton is a week end visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Farman.

Mrs. Pimer Ebbott and Mrs. A. Rader pleasantly entertained a company of lady friends this afternoon at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of the latter. The afternoon was spent at cards.

Monday evening is the date set for the next city Federation meeting which will be held in the Gulton Memorial hall at 7:30. Reports will be given by the delegates who attended the State Federation meeting recently held at Milwaukee.

CALL A CONFERENCE OF RURAL TEACHERS

Program Arranged for Gathering at Training School on Saturday, November 25th.

County Superintendent O. D. Antisak has arranged a program of merit for a conference of rural teachers of Rock county which will be held on Saturday, Nov. 25, at the teachers' training school. Dinner will be served to the guests at noon and all who will partake of the meal are requested to have their places reserved at once, notifying Principal Lowth.

Superintendent Antisak calls attention to the fact that teachers applying for state aid should make a special effort to attend the meeting. While the program is arranged primarily for rural teachers any teacher is welcome.

Following is the program:
9:45—Music, Training school students.
10:10—Teaching Drawing, Blanche Rice, supervising teacher.
10:35—"Balanced Meals," Lillian Winggrene, domestic science teacher.

11:00—Anti-Tuberculosis Work, Theodore Werks, field worker for state anti-tuberculosis society.
11:15—Geography class, combined sixth and seventh grades, Ethel Jenkins, model school teacher.
11:50—Roll Call, J. Fern Cook, Noon.

1:15—Music, Lillian Summerfelt.
1:30—Music, Children from model school.
2:00—Music, Training school students.
2:10—Teaching Citizenship in General Exercises, Principal F. J. Lowth.
2:35—Profitable Opening Exercises, Sadie Clapp, supervising teacher.

2:55—Questions for all present, general discussion.
3:00—Helpful Seat Work, Ella Jacobson, training school assistant.

The domestic science class prepared and served a dinner successfully for fifty men on Wednesday. This was the first event of the kind this year and added skill will come with practice as hereafter.

Miss Emma Conley of the department of home economics at the state university, inspected the domestic science department of the training school on Thursday. Miss Conley was formerly an inspector in the state department of education. She is the author of two books on cooking and nutrition which are widely used throughout the United States.

Rosalia Penn, a graduate in the class of 1916 of the Janesville high school, has entered the training school to take up the work of the one year course.

Miss Maybelle Bush, supervisor of the city grades from the state department of education at Madison, spent Thursday at the training school, looking into the work of the model school, with the purpose of making the work as efficient as possible. Miss Bush expressed herself well pleased with much that she saw, and conference with the teachers many helpful suggestions were made, looking toward improvement.

The following are the new officers of the Janesville Literary society: President, Ethel Davis, Janesville, R. R.; secretary, Ruth Sylverson, Beloit; Treasurer, Josephine Pineson, Janesville; R. R.; historian, Beulah McCormick, Brodhead; program committee, Ella Jacobson, Elkhorn; Florida Lucas, Cuba City; Beth Sullivan, was R. R.; Harriet Davis, Evansville, R. R.

On Friday slides on Glacier Park and on dairies were shown to the training school students and the model school pupils. The slides on the subject of dairies were obtained from the International Harvester company, and the others from the Great Northern railway.

The second quarter began on Thursday, November 24th, and will continue until January 26th. The holiday recess begins Wednesday, December 20th, and continues until Tuesday, January 2nd.

Second and third grade teachers are now taking the work in practice teaching, the first three grades being used mainly for this purpose.

The principal of the training school showed the Glacier Park pictures in the school taught by Mabel Francis last week and in Miss Anna Forster's school this week. There was a good number of people of the district present at each program.

AEROPLANES SCORE IN GERMANY.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Kiel, Germany, Nov. 18.—Ornithologists have discovered that a wild duck does not like the aeroplane, apparently taking it for some huge bird prey.

From the North Sea coast of Schleswig-Holstein it is reported that the great flocks of ducks, which in previous years stopped for rest on islands on their flight from the Far North to the South, have avoided that region this year.

The birds that they were frightened off by the many aeroplanes that are constantly scouting along the coast.

MISSING PAPERS
Will be promptly supplied to our regular subscribers by Western Union messengers up to 8 o'clock. Call Western Union, New phone 86; Bell phone 4221.

Read the want ads. every day. The bargain you are looking for may be there.

FINE PROGRAM OF VAUDEVILLE AT MYERS

Five Big Acts Please Large Audiences Yesterday—Acts That Win Applause on Their Merit.

New Myers theatre has good vaudeville this week. The bill is large, well balanced and pleasing; the acts are all good.

John A. West & Co. lead the bill with their singing wolf, a novelty that is most unusual. This act is well received and deserves attention because of its novelty.

The second act Housh & La Velle in "When the Worm Turns" have a little sketch that appears to please the audience; some good comedy is interjected in addition to the singing.

"Singers and dancers" is the way the 3 Shannons are billed, and they do both very acceptably. A clean little act that goes over well.

The Vander Koors, quick illusionists, have an act that is a scream, imitating the sleight of hand performers they do the most ridiculous things, keeping their audience in a constant state of laughter.

The big wind-up at the end is Goldberg & Wayne who with the assistance of "Bob" Dailey, Goldberg's former vaudeville partner, put on a whole show themselves last evening.

Mose Goldberg is a delightful comedian and with the able assistance of both Mr. Wayne and Mr. Dailey gave the audience more than their money's worth of entertainment in this one act. Mr. Dailey will appear with this act again tonight and tomorrow.

The Tribune-Selig news film, as usual, was most interesting. Before each performance a delightful overture was rendered by Prof. Gray's orchestra.

DANE COUNTY BOARD FAVORS TRUNK ROAD

Madison, Wis., Nov. 18.—Dane county board of supervisors has gone on record in favor of the trunk line highway system. The resolution to this effect was passed last spring, but motion for reconsideration was made and the matter was held in abeyance. The present county board has passed a resolution, with only five votes in opposition, in favor of the trunk line system.

WILL RAISE MONEY FOR GERMAN RED CROSS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18.—St. Paul was decorated to represent its appearance fifty years ago today when several thousand Austro-Germans and Germans from the northwest began arriving for an annual reunion and folkfest. Beginning tomorrow, funds will be collected for four days for the German Red Cross. Tomorrow will be St. Paul day. Northwest, American and German days also on the list.

BEVERLY Special for Today

HENRY WALTHALL of Birth of a Nation Fame in

PILLARS OF SOCIETY

5 acts Adapted from the work of HENRY ISEN

A Wonderful Production Extra—TODAY—Extra BOBBY VERNON in 'The Danger Girl'

2-act Keystone Comedy. —7:30— TWO SHOWS TONIGHT 9:00

SUNDAY & MONDAY WM. DESMOND and ENID MARKEY in

"Lieutenant Danny"

TUESDAY BRYANT WASHBURN and MARGUERITE CLAYTON in

The Prince of Graustark

NEWS NOTES MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

Mrs. Vernon Castle, who is appearing in the new preparedness serial, "Patric," recently had a narrow escape from drowning in Lake Cayuga, at Ithaca, who is an expert swimmer and diver, was doing a water scene, which is a part of one of the episodes. Although the sun was shining brightly and the air was warm, the water of the lake was icy cold. Mrs. Castle did not realize this fact when she dove from the side of a steamship into the lake. The shock was so great that Mrs. Castle became unconscious and sank.

Milton Sills was on the deck of the ship full clothed. He jumped overboard, rescued her, and with the assistance of other members of the "Patric" company, hurried Mrs. Castle to her home. She suffered from the shock during the remainder of the day, but fortunately escaped any serious after effects.

A few weeks ago a prominent actor, who begs that his name be suppressed, went hunting for partridges in the Green Bay (Wis.) territory. He was arrested for hunting without a license and fined, even though he did not get a bird. Now he is spending two weeks in North Dakota for ducks. If he's successful in this last venture it's a ten to one bet he won't be so modest in his cently that one of her bracelets flew off into an orange tree. They wanted her to gesticulate more carefully lest a nying bracelet cripple an innocent bystander or even a valuable cameraman.

Many people think that no movie star is going to retard or accelerate the motion of the earth.

But, "I think Theda Bara is a potent influence for good," is the way her publicity agent quotes Prof. Victor Freeburg.

This opinion is explained perhaps by the publicity man's further statement that the professor is "youthful" and "good natured."

MUTUAL FAIRBANKS. Douglas Fairbanks was introduced to Mary Miles Minter.

She said he was her favorite movie actor.

Then it developed that: Fairbanks never had seen a feature starring Miss Minter.

Miss Minter never had seen a feature starring Fairbanks.

Art Acord, cowboy in pictures, threw another actor down a flight of ten steps in the first rehearsal, and twice that number in the second.

When the scene was photographed he threw the actor, who was supposed to put up a good fight, down the entire flight, and nearly through the side of the studio set.

This actor saw the scene shown on the screen lately.

"It's pretty good," he said, "but don't you think I had just a mite too much make-up on my chin?"

VEHEMENT MAY. May Allison waved her arms so vehemently in making a movie re-

MAJESTIC Special Sunday

MME. PETROVA

in the HEART OF A PAINTED WOMAN

A five-act Metro Wonder-play.

COMING WEDNESDAY Harold Lockwood and May Allison

COMING THURSDAY Mable Taliaferro

in a return engagement of the massive photoplay The Snow Bird

A picture you should not fail to see.

NEW MYERS THEATRE

JOS. M. BRANSKY, LESSEE AND MANAGER.

SUNDAY EVENING, NOV. 26th

Mail orders received now from city and out of town patrons for the seasons musical gem JOHN CORT PRESENTS

VICTOR HERBERT'S SMASHING OPERATIC TRIUMPH "THE PRINCESS PAT"

Coming direct unchanged, intact from the Garrick Theatre, Chicago, with the complete original New York Cort Theatre presentation. SUNDAY PRICES:—50c to $1.50. A few at $2.00.

desire to have the thing hushed up. He has a license this time.

J. Warren Kerrigan and Louise Lovely will be co-stars in "The Measure of a Man," produced by Mack Conway among the redwood trees of California. In this feature Kerrigan has the best role he has ever appeared in, impersonating a "fighting person" who converts a lumber camp to right living by exhorting them when they will listen and by chastising them when they will not heed.

Let the Want Ads do your work.

APOLLO

Matinee daily at 2:30 Evening 7:30 and 9:00

POPULAR VAUDEVILLE

EVERY ACT A FEATURE EVERY FEATURE A HIT. TONIGHT AND SUNDAY

Willard Jarvis' SEXTETTE DELUXE

Formerly the ALPHA SEXTETTE The highest class singing organization in vaudeville.

La Dell Sisters Aerial novelty 4-PEOPLE-4

Bassett & Bailey Furniture juggling.

James Cunningham Imitator of great singers.

La Mont & Wright 1917 novelty girls.

PHOTOPLAYS changed every day.

Matinee daily 10c. Night 10c and 20c.

APOLLO

Matinee daily at 2:30 Evening 7:30 and 9:00

MONDAY The gifted stage favorite

Mae Murray

In a fascinating pictorial insight into how the "other half" lives

The Big Sister

This is a story of the underworld and its people. How a little street urchin meets a millionaire of the "upper crust" and the love that grows between them; the interference of "fluffy" Mendez, gang leader, and some minutes of thrilling suspense where it looks as if things were going all wrong, but finally—a solution and it's a very pleasing one.

ALL SEATS 10c.

TUESDAY E. P. Poe's great book

He Fell in Love With His Wife

Featuring a notable cast including

FLORENCE ROCKWELL

Supported by Forrest Stanley, Page Peters and Lydia Yeamans Titus.

ALL SEATS 10c.

WEDNESDAY Jesse L. Lasky presents

THE ODOR ROBERTS and ANITA KING

In a superb dramatic photoplay ANTON, THE TERRIBLE

"Anton, The Terrible" is a story laid in Russia at the present time, being a mixture of political intrigue, love and a people's fight for freedom.

ALL SEATS 10c.

THURSDAY Samuel S. Hutchinson presents

RICHARD BENNETT

In a Mutual Masterpicture PHILIP HOLDEN WASTER

In Five Acts. ALL SEATS 10c.

LUCILLE, SWEET OUT PADD ED CELL 31964.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Nov. 18.—"Pocahontas," a comic opera was given at the opera house last evening to a large audience. The play was given under the auspices of the M. C. church choir and all local talent was used.

There were six freight cars off the siding here last evening when the top of the rail split. One of the cars jumped and the side broke open, leaving several wagon loads of the grain on the ground.

Mrs. E. P. Thayer, Mrs. Albert Hanson and W. E. Hawthorn have been appointed by Mayor Zull to represent Whitewater as delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Wisconsin anti-tuberculosis association to be held in Milwaukee on Friday, Nov. 24.

Miss Emma Brigham, who came home with Miss McCutchan last July when she returned from the east, left on Wednesday for her home in Westfield, N. J. Miss McCutchan went as far as Chicago with her.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pratt, Mrs. H. M. Tripple and Wm. Shock attended the pea cannery convention in Milwaukee Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Sutter and granddaughter, Lorraine Miller of Milwaukee visited at the home of W. H. Wright the first of the week.

Miss Della Lempeke of Milwaukee is visiting at the home of Paul Dietrich.

Mrs. Chamberlain of Fort Atkinson is visiting her grandniece at the home of Clarence Gotsch on this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson are visiting this week in Platteville.

Dr. J. F. Dunn of this city and Dr. Dike of Johnston are attending a Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., this week.

H. A. Fowler is in Nebraska this week on a business trip.

Mrs. J. F. Dunn is visiting friends in Waukesha and Milwaukee this week.

Chas. Bientang spent yesterday in Milwaukee on business.

Miss Irene Marshall and Miss Etna and Ralph Anderson started Wednesday for Jacksonville, Fla., and other southern points, for an indefinite stay.

Miss Charlotte Wood went to Walworth yesterday to spend the week end with several northern girls now teaching in that village.

The QUARTERBREED

By ROBERT AMES BENNET

(Copyright by Bennett & Howell Co.)

"In common decency, you might have returned to see what had become of me," returned Hardy.

Dupont hastened to interpose: "Mr. Van got the idea you meant us to rush Marie through here to the mine, where

"In Common Decency You Might Have Returned to See What Had Become of Me."

she'd be safe. So we lit out fast as we could. The place found your mare, but lost your trail up in the rocks. First thing this morning we sent the whole bunch back to trail you."

The honest bluntness of Dupont's tone and his straightforward statement compelled belief. Hardy nodded. "Very well. I could not expect that either of you would trouble to go back for me."

"Just the same, we would've. Cap, you can bet your life on it—only on account of Marie and—"

The trader turned a dubious glance on Olmstead, and remarked: "I see you stumbled onto old Thunderbolt's camp."

"I did," said Hardy, and he smiled. "Thanks to Miss Olmstead I was able to make myself better understood than when her brother acted as interpreter. I have reason to believe that he willfully misstated what I said to the chiefs."

"By Gosh!" swore Dupont. "That old Thunderbolt is a deep one. Just like him to try to throw you off the track by laying it all on Charlie."

"I'm not so sure of that, Jake," broke in Vandervyn. "You remember, Charlie was scared stiff. He may have become muddled."

"Well, maybe that had part to do with it. Just the same, you can't tell me the whole thing ain't sore. Look at the way they've twice tried to get Cap—and porting Charlie last night."

"Charlie?" gasped Olmstead. "You say—Oh, Mr. Dupont, he's not—not—"

"No—pick up," brusquely replied Vandervyn. "He was only nipped through the arm. He will be all right in a few days."

"All right? O-o-oh, thank you!" signed the girl.

In the stress of the moment she forgot that they were not alone. She held out her arms to him and looked up into his face, her soft eyes beaming with love and adoration.

He frowned, and his voice grated with harshness: "Don't be a fool! He's in the cabin. Miss Dupont is taking care of him. Go and thank her, not me."

Tears gushed into the girl's eyes. She dropped her head and slunk away as if Vandervyn had struck her. Hardy's face became like iron.

"Mr. Vandervyn," he admonished, "do not let me again hear you speak to any woman in that tone."

Vandervyn shrugged. "The chivalrous chevalier! Have it your own way. Now I suppose you'll go in and worry her and rag Charlie into a fever about bailing up his interpretation at the council."

"As for that—" began Hardy. He stopped short and raised his hat. Marie had come out of the cabin, and was hastening forward to greet him, her beautiful face radiant.

"Captain!" she called. "You're here—really here, safe and unhurt!"

"Thanks to Miss Redbear," replied Hardy.

"But how could Olmstead—surely she did not help you escape the murderer?"

"No. It was easy enough to dislodge the fellow. The difficulty was to track him among those rocks. Soon lost him and myself also."

"And he escaped to shoot Charlie—the wolf! The poor boy was tracking a deer over on the ridge half a mile or so this way."

"All's well that ends well," Hardy assured her. "I'm here, unhurt, as you see; Redbear, I understand, has only a slight wound; and the old chief now knows that I am a friend of the tribe. He will call a council to meet us here tomorrow."

"A council—here?" queried Vandervyn.

"Why not?" demanded Hardy, fixing him with his keen glance. "Could there be a more suitable place for a tribal council than at the mine which has been the source of all the recent trouble on this reservation?"

"Nem d'm chien!" muttered Dupont. "What's that breed girl gone and blabbed?"

"Nothing," rejoined Hardy. "She has done no more than interpret between the head chief and myself. I have learned all about Nogen's dishonesty and his harshness to the tribe. It is well that you and Mr. Vandervyn tried to induce him to be more just; else I should order you both off the reservation for lying to me."

"Lying? What d'you mean by that?" blustered Dupont.

"The word is explicit," said Hardy. "Mr. Vandervyn, take your hand from your holster. Miss Dupont, I regret the necessity of making this reprimand in your presence."

The girl's eyes were ablaze with indignation. "Regret is a mild excuse for insulting my father, sir!"

"You add to my regret. Yet, as acting agent, it is my duty to censure your father and Mr. Vandervyn for deceiving me. And they told me about Nogen's meanness—his blocking of the new treaty and compelling the Indians to work the mine without pay—"

"He did that?" Marie questioned her father.

"Well, me and Mr. Van done all we could to get him to pay 'em," mumbled Dupont.

"Of course! But he—I did not think him so mean!" The girl's eyes blazed and her nostrils dilated. "So that was why he was shot? I don't blame the man who did it—I could have done it myself! The thief! Reggie, if only you had let the killer escape!"

"Couldn't," tersely replied Vandervyn. "He was blood-mad—would have got Charlie and me, too, if we hadn't got him."

"That was self-defense," said Hardy. "It has been greed and dishonesty, though, that have prompted you to conceal from me the facts that led up to the killing. Aside from the danger to me, you have permitted the tribe to verge upon an uprising that would have compelled their pacification by the war department. All this that you might steal the ore of this mine."

"Steal our own ore?" bellowed Dupont. "You're plumb locoed!"

"Not so loud, if you please," quietly replied Hardy. "The ore is not yours."

"That's all you know about it," blustered the trader. "Ain't I one of the discoverers and locators of the lode?"

"The lode is not subject to location. It is an Indian land."

"What if it is? Ain't I a member of the tribe?"

"The tribal land has not yet been allotted in serenity. Every square foot of ground on the reservation belongs to the tribe as a whole. No one member can hold individual title to any of it."

"Well, what of it?" demanded Dupont, far from silenced. "If the tribe wants to work the mine, they want me and Mr. Van to manage it for them and buy the ore, what in hell have you got to say about it?"

"Nothing at present," answered Hardy. "If the tribe consents, I shall make no objection. You will be able to cheat them of only a few thousand dollars before the new treaty is consummated and all this mineral land opened to location and entry under the mining laws."

The veins on Vandervyn's crimsoned forehead were swollen and pulsating with his furious anger. He spoke in a high, airy tone: "So you are going to pull wires to get our mine taken away from us?"

"I shall see that justice is done toward the tribe," said Hardy, and he marked: "You sank this first, then drove in to meet it."

"Yep. Wanted to make sure the vein didn't pinch out nowhere. Nogen and Mr. Van both figured we got three hundred thousand dollars of ore as good as blocked out."

"Ah," said Hardy, and he signed to Dupont to lead the way back.

They had gone twenty-five or thirty paces when a little sither of ore fell on the floor of the tunnel in front of Dupont. Instantly he sprang forward with a whispered cry: "Jump—quick!"

Hardy leaped after him, barely in time to clear the ton or more of ore that dropped from the roof in a mass. Without stopping to look behind them the two men hastened stealthily down the slight slope of the tunnel, their candles upraised and eyes fixed on the soft, raw ore-body above them. At any moment the entire roof might cave in and bury them. The shock of the first fall loosened small quantities of ore all along the passage. Fragments dribbled down behind and in front of the fugitives and even on their heads. Panic-stricken, they broke into a run. It was none too soon. As they dashed around the turn that brought them to the outlet, the entire roof behind them came chudding down.

Safe outside, Dupont shook the fragments from his hat and clothes and pulled out his bandanna to wipe off the sweat that was gathering in beads on his forehead.

"Ugh!" he grunted. "Don't never see me in there ag'in till it's timbered."

"Rather close call," remarked Hardy.

"You're a cool one," muttered the trader, and he scowled. "Nem d'm chien! Just my luck! If I hadn't sung out, you'd 'a' got smashed under that first drop."

"I shall not forget it, Dupont."

"Me, neither. 'Stood of being rid of you, here you are ready as ever to clean us out—and I done it!"

"You don't regret saving my life," asserted Hardy.

"Well, maybe not. Just the same, it's mighty hard luck on us. Here we went and blocked out all that there ore—three hundred thousand dollars as good as in our pockets—not to speak of all that's down under and t'other side the shaft. For all we know, it runs clean through the mountain and down to China!"

"That does not alter the situation," said Hardy.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Whole Tribe Hates You—and I'm One of the Tribe.

fixed the younger man with a glance that compelled him to blink and look aside.

But now Marie's swift-mounting scorn and anger burst out in a storm of passion.

"You hypocrite! you self-righteous martinet! You would reprimand my father and Mr. Van, would you? And each a thousand times better man than you! Who has made all the trouble here since you came? The whole tribe hates you—and I'm one of the tribe! You straight-laced prig! You say Pere and Reggie are dishonest, when all they wish to do is to give the tribe good work and good pay. But you—you want to take away the mine from the tribe and from us too!"

Hardy winced under the scornful reproaches, yet did not yield a hair. "I have done my duty, Miss Dupont. I shall continue to do it. I have no intention of robbing anyone of what is rightfully his."

"Yet when the reservation is thrown open for entry, someone else who never saw the mine slip in ahead of us and jump it," said Vandervyn.

"That is something I cannot prevent," said Hardy.

"You can!" contradicted Marie. "The chiefs will not insist on the new treaty—they will do what Pere thinks best for them and us, if you leave the matter to him and Reggie."

"I must do my duty as acting agent," insisted Hardy.

The girl turned her back upon him in open disdain. He raised his hat to her and started for the cabin, his face white, but his shoulders squared back and his head very erect.

CHAPTER XIII.

Another Card or Two.

A few minutes later Hardy came out of the cabin. Though grave, he was cool and alert. He at once walked up to Dupont, who sat puffing at his pipe on the top of the mine-lump.

"Redbear seems to be quiet," he said. "Where is your daughter?"

Dupont pointed vaguely down the mountain-side. "She went off with Mr. Van, to try to smooth down his fur. You riled him considerable, Cap."

"I regret that it was necessary to reprimand you."

"All right, Cap. I don't bear no grudge. Maybe now you'd like to take a look at the mine."

"Yes," crisply agreed Hardy.

Dupont rose and led him into the mouth of the tunnel. There he unlocked a heavy tool chest and took out two candles. These were needed for though the tunnel ran into the mountain side less than three hundred feet, its twisting course along the ore-vein soon shut out the daylight. Dupont noticed his companion's dubious look at the soft ore-body that formed the roof and one wall of the tunnel.

"Walk quiet, and don't talk loud," he said. "We ain't done no timbering yet. Drove in this drift to the foot of the shaft fast as we could get the lazy cusses to work, so's we could figure what we had to count on."

Hardy made no reply until they came to the end of the tunnel and stepped out into the dim daylight of the shaft bottom. He looked up the big, square, timbered wall, and remarked: "You sank this first, then drove in to meet it."

"Yep. Wanted to make sure the vein didn't pinch out nowhere. Nogen and Mr. Van both figured we got three hundred thousand dollars of ore as good as blocked out."

"Ah," said Hardy, and he signed to Dupont to lead the way back.

They had gone twenty-five or thirty paces when a little sither of ore fell on the floor of the tunnel in front of Dupont. Instantly he sprang forward with a whispered cry: "Jump—quick!"

Hardy leaped after him, barely in time to clear the ton or more of ore that dropped from the roof in a mass. Without stopping to look behind them the two men hastened stealthily down the slight slope of the tunnel, their candles upraised and eyes fixed on the soft, raw ore-body above them. At any moment the entire roof might cave in and bury them. The shock of the first fall loosened small quantities of ore all along the passage. Fragments dribbled down behind and in front of the fugitives and even on their heads. Panic-stricken, they broke into a run. It was none too soon. As they dashed around the turn that brought them to the outlet, the entire roof behind them came chudding down.

Safe outside, Dupont shook the fragments from his hat and clothes and pulled out his bandanna to wipe off the sweat that was gathering in beads on his forehead.

"Ugh!" he grunted. "Don't never see me in there ag'in till it's timbered."

"Rather close call," remarked Hardy.

"You're a cool one," muttered the trader, and he scowled. "Nem d'm chien! Just my luck! If I hadn't sung out, you'd 'a' got smashed under that first drop."

"I shall not forget it, Dupont."

"Me, neither. 'Stood of being rid of you, here you are ready as ever to clean us out—and I done it!"

"You don't regret saving my life," asserted Hardy.

"Well, maybe not. Just the same, it's mighty hard luck on us. Here we went and blocked out all that there ore—three hundred thousand dollars as good as in our pockets—not to speak of all that's down under and t'other side the shaft. For all we know, it runs clean through the mountain and down to China!"

"That does not alter the situation," said Hardy.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Whole Tribe Hates You—and I'm One of the Tribe.

fixed the younger man with a glance that compelled him to blink and look aside.

But now Marie's swift-mounting scorn and anger burst out in a storm of passion.

"You hypocrite! you self-righteous martinet! You would reprimand my father and Mr. Van, would you? And each a thousand times better man than you! Who has made all the trouble here since you came? The whole tribe hates you—and I'm one of the tribe! You straight-laced prig! You say Pere and Reggie are dishonest, when all they wish to do is to give the tribe good work and good pay. But you—you want to take away the mine from the tribe and from us too!"

Hardy winced under the scornful reproaches, yet did not yield a hair. "I have done my duty, Miss Dupont. I shall continue to do it. I have no intention of robbing anyone of what is rightfully his."

"Yet when the reservation is thrown open for entry, someone else who never saw the mine slip in ahead of us and jump it," said Vandervyn.

"That is something I cannot prevent," said Hardy.

"You can!" contradicted Marie. "The chiefs will not insist on the new treaty—they will do what Pere thinks best for them and us, if you leave the matter to him and Reggie."

"I must do my duty as acting agent," insisted Hardy.

The girl turned her back upon him in open disdain. He raised his hat to her and started for the cabin, his face white, but his shoulders squared back and his head very erect.

CHAPTER XIII.

Another Card or Two.

A few minutes later Hardy came out of the cabin. Though grave, he was cool and alert. He at once walked up to Dupont, who sat puffing at his pipe on the top of the mine-lump.

"Redbear seems to be quiet," he said. "Where is your daughter?"

Dupont pointed vaguely down the mountain-side. "She went off with Mr. Van, to try to smooth down his fur. You riled him considerable, Cap."

"I regret that it was necessary to reprimand you."

"All right, Cap. I don't bear no grudge. Maybe now you'd like to take a look at the mine."

"Yes," crisply agreed Hardy.

Dupont rose and led him into the mouth of the tunnel. There he unlocked a heavy tool chest and took out two candles. These were needed for though the tunnel ran into the mountain side less than three hundred feet, its twisting course along the ore-vein soon shut out the daylight. Dupont noticed his companion's dubious look at the soft ore-body that formed the roof and one wall of the tunnel.

"Walk quiet, and don't talk loud," he said. "We ain't done no timbering yet. Drove in this drift to the foot of the shaft fast as we could get the lazy cusses to work, so's we could figure what we had to count on."

Hardy made no reply until they came to the end of the tunnel and stepped out into the dim daylight of the shaft bottom. He looked up the big, square, timbered wall, and remarked: "You sank this first, then drove in to meet it."

BED TIME TALES

By CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Happy-Go-Lucky Sleepkins

AFTER FATHER BEAVER had taken all of his family and Briar Beaver for a ride on his raft, he came back home and settled down for some hard work on the dam. If he didn't watch out winter would be upon him and no work would be done. But beavers can work and talk a little too, and that's just what those beavers did.

"If you built your raft above the dam, then how did you get it to the other side?" asked Mother Beaver.

"That's funny," laughed Father Beaver. "I was going to ask you a question. After you decided to give a party, how did you get your dishes?"

"You told me something about it, but I want to hear it all."

"You tell first," said Mother Beaver. So Father Beaver told her all about building the raft and about how he had made a magic wish and how the rain carried the raft over the dam.

"Why that's just the same as I did for the dishes!" exclaimed Mother Beaver. "I made a magic wish for them."

"And did Sleepkins, the Bat, tell you where to go?" asked Father Beaver eagerly.

"The very same," replied Mother Beaver. "And that reminds me. Seems to me, Sleepkins hooked himself up by his heels when he went to sleep and I've always meant to go back there and see for sure."

"Then let's go now," said Father Beaver. "This work can wait a little while." So off they went to find Sleepkins, the Bat.

But though they hunted high and though they hunted low, though they looked in every hollow tree they could find, not a sign of Sleepkins did they find. They were just about to give up and go back to their work when they should dart across their path but Sleepkins himself!

"My home," laughed Sleepkins as he hung himself up on a bush just over the beavers. "Where did you think my home was? My home is in the woods. If I sleep in a tree one night, and on a bush the next, and among the leaves the next, it matters nothing to me. I'm a happy-go-lucky fellow. Just let me sleep all I wish, let me catch a few insects and I am happy." And off he went to sleep.

Father Beaver shook his head and looked very solemn—he couldn't understand such feelings; can you?

Copyright—Clara Ingram Judson

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 18, 1876.—The weather was a little mixed today. It snowed heavily and rained lightly.

Sidney Burton of Bradford was brought before Justice Whitaker on the charge of assault and battery on Peter Tucker last Thursday.

The Thiden and Hendricks flag met with a disaster this forenoon. The line which suspended it across East Milwaukee street broke, and the names of the democratic candidates were trailed in the mud and snow. There is no more use for it, and it was taken into winter quarters.

Among all our business men there is not one who fulfills in a greater degree what he promises than H. A. Smith, the well known shoe dealer, opposite the postoffice. When he sells an article and calls it a good one, it proves such, and nothing else. A child can make a purchase at his store with as much certainty of getting a good article as the most experienced man or woman.

Columbus, Nov. 18.—Samuel McMillan and D. Hollerin, citizens of this place were killed on the railroad near the Panhandle roundhouse, in the eastern part of the city, last night by being run over by a freight train.

BERLIN INCOME TAX GREATER THAN IN 1915.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Berlin, Nov. 18.—In making up the income tax list for 1916, which is to yield the city of Berlin 45,072,981 marks this year instead of 42,700,000 last year, the authorities find that the incomes of "individuals in all classes of tax payers have increased, while those of firms and business houses in general have as consistently decreased."

There are 30,834 persons with taxable incomes under 3,000 marks than in 1915, and 585 more who are taxed on incomes over 3,000 marks than there were a year ago. On the other hand there were 150 less persons who will help fill the city's coffers than there were.

BEWARE OF sudden colds. Take —

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE

The old family remedy—in tablet form—safe, sure, easy to take. No opiates—no unpleasant after effects. Cures colds in 24 hours—keeps the bowels regular—back if it fails. Get the genuine box with Red Top and Mr. Hill's picture on it—25 cents.

At Any Drug Store

According to their own account, the children were first in something at school; one was first in reading, another in arithmetic, another in sports. Bertie alone remained silent.

"Well, Bertie, how about you?" his uncle asked. "Aren't you first in anything?"

"Yes," said honest Bertie. "I am first out of the building when the bell rings."

JUNIORS WIN GAME WITH SENIORS BY SCORE OF 12-8

The junior class advanced one step toward the class championship in football at the high school by defeating the senior class team at the fairgrounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 8. Roy Hunt, playing for the juniors, was the star of the day, scoring both touchdowns for his class. Slickly and steadily also did good work on the senior team.

This afternoon the freshmen met the sophomores to decide who will play the juniors next Saturday for the first honors. A good crowd turned out for both teams, as the class rivalry is strong at the local school.

Battery men appear to be in demand as big league managers. Among the pitchers now leading major league teams are Mathewson, Callahan, Griffith and Donovan. The catchers are represented by Mack, Carrigan, Stallings, Robertson and Moran, and it is now rumored that Fred Mitchell will be added to this list as a pilot for the Chicago Cubs. It certainly is natural that smart twirlers and backstops should learn a lot about ball players in general. They are obliged to watch the opposing pitcher's every move, and to be on hand for any other men on the team. They must know about pitching. Their all-around knowledge of attack and defense, therefore, should be highly developed.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Janesville Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Janesville citizen testified long ago.

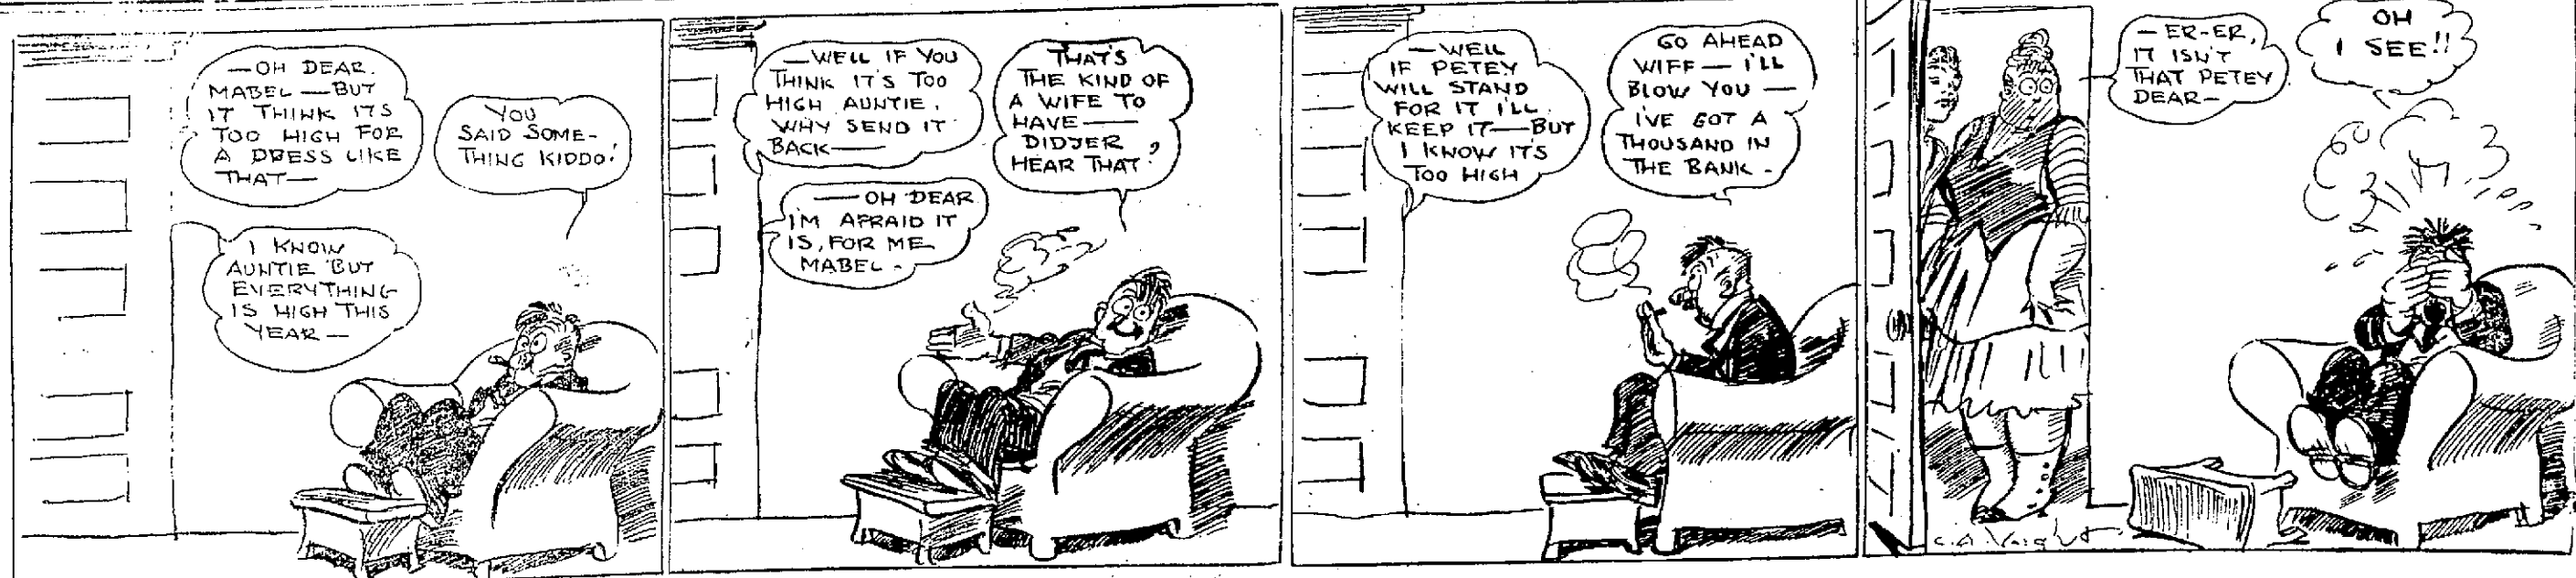

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

Such facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. F. C. Samuels, grocer, 389 McKee Blvd., Janesville, says: "My kidneys didn't act as they should and I had backache and pains across my loins. I used two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and was relieved."

No Trouble Since.

Over two years later, Mr. Samuels said: "I haven't had any need of a kidney medicine since Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me."

PETEY DINK—PETEY'S FOOLISH IF HE DOESN'T SEND IT BACK.

SPORTS

MIDDLE WEST TODAY HOLDS ALL INTEREST OF FOOTBALL WORLD

Aside From Yale-Princeton Clash in East, "Big Nine" Games Hold Limelight.

With Purdue awarded only an outside chance today to upset the standing of the southern conference football teams by defeating Northwestern, attention of followers of the sport in this section is occupied largely with the ancient feud games and the intercollegiate contests in which other members of the "Big Nine" are engaged. The "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games, and the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games.

Central West football has its final clash at the east for the season with the "Big Nine" games. The "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games, and the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games. The "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games, and the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games.

Of the recent report of an "educational" commission condemning the "Big Nine" games, the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games, and the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games. The "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games, and the "Big Nine" games are the "Big Nine" games.

MCGOORTY, OSHKOSH PRIDE BACK FROM AUSTRALIA.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Eddie McGoorty, the Oshkosh, Wis., middleweight, who has been in Australia for two years, is returning to the United States, according to cable advice from Sydney. McGoorty has been in the Antipodes for a long time, and judging from recent fighting plans to remain there.

SD HATCH TO ENTER YONKERS, N. Y. MARATHON.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Sunday Hatch, the veteran Marathon runner, who recently broke all records in his 95-mile run from Milwaukee to Chicago, is out after new laurels. Hatch has entered a marathon race to be held in Yonkers, N. Y., and also has plans to enter the annual Marathon event held in Boston.

Connie Mack has been defending the prices asked for a world's series, but Connie has been in a position to know anything about a world's series for some time.

Nut League Bowling Scores

Butternuts	W. L. Pct.
Butternuts	17 10 .629
Hickorynuts	16 11 .593
Hazelnuts	13 14 .481
Pecans	13 14 .481
Walnuts	13 14 .481
Brazils	13 14 .481
Pilberts	12 15 .444
Beechnuts	11 16 .407
Cocacanuts	11 16 .407

The Walnuts won two of three games from the Hazelnuts last night and as a result with the first berth in still on three teams are tied for third place. Scores: Walnuts.

Pitcher	W. L. Pct.
Cushing	144 132 .519
McDermott	135 115 .541
Smith	148 148 .500
Huebel	138 150 .479
Totals	787 715 .609—2111

Hammond Hazelnuts 132 623

Higgins 163 157 167

Smith 135 173 181

Huebel 138 150 149

Totals 746 739 611—2096

AT THAT IT'S PROFITABLE FOR MILWAUKEE PLAYERS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, Nov. 18.—Members of the Milwaukee American association baseball club for the most part occupy themselves during the winter months with positions of a responsible nature. Some of them are engaged in prosperous lines of business. John Beall is practicing his profession in Pittsburgh; Clarence Kraft is employed in a Flint, Mich., automobile plant; Elmer Benson, assistant manager, is in charge of the Marion, Ohio; Jack Martin is finishing his apprenticeship at the machine trade in Plainfield, N. J.; Tony Faeth, plays professional billiards in St. Paul; George Stutz, manages a billiard hall in Philadelphia.

MEXICAN BORDER SERVICE BRINGS FORTH SPORT STARS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Military service on the Mexican border has been the biggest boost Chicago's indoor sport has received in years. Athletic talent has been uncovered by the Chicago militiamen during their leisure hours in Texas military camps.

After four months of border service, the United States Infantry is planning the creation of one of the strongest athletic organizations in the west. Athletes of every nationality are represented in the regiment. The list includes soccer players, who learned the game in half a dozen countries on the other side of the Atlantic; distance runners, boxers, baseball players, pole vaulters, wrestlers, basketball players, hurdlers, discus throwers and a heavy squad of football players.

"Our regiment has one of the largest and best equipped gymnasiums in the world," said Lieutenant D. L. Loughborough, who has been appointed athletic director of the regiment. "There are two or three hundred men in the regiment who will develop into high class athletic material." Plans already are under way to take the regimental track team to New York and other eastern cities for meets with other military organizations which served on the border. Return meets will be held in Chicago.

"REB" RUSSELL HAS SON; NEW PITCHER FOR SOX.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—There's a new pitcher in the family of "Reb" Russell, star left hander of the Chicago American League club. The new comer is a son, weighing 94 pounds, named Billy, who has been named Billy. He is going to be a south paw.

NEW PURDUE CAPTAIN VS. NORTHWESTERN TODAY.

LaFayette, Ind., Nov. 18.—Buechner, left tackle on the Purdue University football eleven has been named acting captain of the team, replacing "Red" Hake, who was injured in the game against Illinois. Hake is in a hospital suffering with a broken collar bone, and it may be two or three weeks before he will be able to leave his bed.

LEADING BOWLERS AMONG THE NUTS

Richards Highest for Total, Zigler Leads in Single Game and Soulmans in Three Games

A Nut Bowling league post-mortem issued today by Secretary Ed. Baumann shows "Doc" Richards, Harry Zigler and Ralph Soulmans, leading with the honors in the individual average, high game and three high game classes respectively.

Richards in 27 games amassed 4,666 pins, an average of 172 each game. Zigler hit 247 in one game and just before "Soule" posted the w. k. and now famous sheet at the foot of his bed he smothered 630 of the wooden boys at the rate of 205, 210 and 215 for three games.

Here's a little of the dope:

Richards	Ave. Games. Pins.
Richards	172 27 4666
Dickerson	170 27 4623
Hayes	170 27 4623
Miller	169 27 4572
Morrice	168 24 4041
Soulmans	168 24 4041
Donstad	168 24 4041
Pitcher	168 27 4593
Osborn	165 27 4476
Kirchhoff	165 24 3998
Halse	165 27 4467

High game—H. Zigler: 247.

Three high games—R. Soulmans: 205, 210, 215—630.

EX-PRESIDENTS' SONS WILL GO ON RIVAL FOOTBALL TEAMS TODAY

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 17.—Two sons of ex-presidents, Charles Taft and Richard Cleveland, will be on opposing football teams today when Princeton and Yale clash at Palmer Stadium. Taft is a tackle and won a place as a backfield man, Cleveland is a poor condition has done little this year for Princeton. He is said to have been promised a chance to share in Princeton's last and most important game of the season.

BASKETBALL TRAINING OPENS AT INDIANA.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 18.—Basketball training has started at Indiana University. Coach Lowman will have charge of the men after the close of the football season. Prospects for a winning team this year are considered brighter than last year. With Captain Buschmann, Mullett, Nash and Bowser of last year's varsity, and about fifteen men from the freshmen varsity of last year out to make the team there will be good material to choose from.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Something must be accomplished and accomplished in a hurry to increase the playing strength in the National league, all observers agree. The league managers, after watching the recent world's series between the Boston Red Sox and the Brooklyn Robins came to the conclusion that after all things, baseball is a game for the masses. The one rule by Bancroft B. Johnson.

After the poor playing of the discouraged Robins in the last game of the world's series, the expression was often heard that there were several teams in the American league that could have beaten the National league champions. It was figured that the White Sox, the Tigers and the Yankees with all of the regular players in the line-up could have performed the same feat against Robins just as easily as the Red Sox had done.

This should be sufficient for the club owners in the National league to begin plans to strengthen their organization. And the quickest and best way is to abolish the twenty-one players limit rule. Every club should carry at least twenty-eight players and within a couple of years the National league would gain much strength.

league will be exciting, to say the least. Besides the players, there will be the "big" incident, to thrash out McGraw and several of the players will be called before the board of directors to explain what really happened in the game between the Brooklyn Robins and the National league pennant. Then there will be plenty of big trades which will keep the fans talking. McGraw would like to get another first class pitcher, while Robins would give about six of his players for a real shortstop.

CLINTON

Clinton, Nov. 17.—The sudden death of Mrs. John Hoveland came as a surprise and shock to all. Mr. and Mrs. Hoveland were returning home from an auto trip to Janesville and Beloit yesterday afternoon at about four o'clock when Mrs. Hoveland was taken with an attack of apoplexy, from which she died without gaining consciousness at six o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Hoveland was in her usual health when she left home. The funeral will be held from the home on Monday afternoon at one-thirty. Rev. M. L. Gurbert, having charge of the service. Burial will take place in the Clinton cemetery.

The news of the death of Mrs. Elias Donstad, on Wednesday morning, in Chicago, where she had gone for treatment, came as a shock to her many friends here although it was known that she was in a serious condition. The remains were brought here yesterday morning, the funeral being held this afternoon from the family residence at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. F. W. Bailes officiating. Burial was made in the Clinton cemetery. Besides the bereaved husband she leaves two sons, Earl and Randal, to mourn her loss, also one sister, Mrs. C. R. Hall of Chicago.

The funeral of Benjamin B. Maricle was held at the Methodist church on Wednesday morning at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. W. P. Leek of Beloit conducting the service. Interment was made in the Clinton cemetery by the side of his wife and daughter, who died while the family lived here. Mr. Maricle died last Saturday morning in Greeley, Colo., after a illness of about two years with cancer of the stomach. He resided here for many years before going to Colorado, seven years ago, where he made his home with a daughter. He is survived by four children: Mrs. Ida Sides and Mrs. C. E. Gosselin of Greeley, Colo., and Robert of Trinity, Colo., and Mrs. Alice Baker of Toronto, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freis mourn the loss of their infant daughter Bernice Joyce, who died on Monday evening of pneumonia. The funeral was held at the home on Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. F. W. Bailes.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jensen on November 17th, a son.

Elmer Pease entertained a number of relatives here until Thursday evening.

Mrs. Elmer Pease entertained a number of relatives here until Thursday evening.

cousin, Mrs. Bernard Sherman, of Woodstock, on Thursday.

Mrs. Alie Rood returned to Darien on Thursday after a week's visit here with friends.

Baptist Church. Rev. F. W. Bailes, pastor. Sunday, 10:30, morning worship. Come and meet with us next Sunday. Bible school at 11:45. Young People's Union at 6:45. Evening gospel service at 7:30. We give a special invitation to you for this service. It is plain, simple and evangelistic. Young people are especially invited. Tuesday at 7:30 Berean Band will meet for Bible study. We have an interesting method of studying the work of Romans. Prayer meeting Thursday at 7:30.

Methodist Church. Edward G. Sanderson, D. D. pastor. The discourse Sunday morning will be based on the teachings of Prof. O'Shea, director of education, as set forth in addresses at the state Sunday school convention in Janesville. The text, Phil. 4:3. The evening preaching, setting forth the real work of the church. Bible school and Epworth League as usual.

Lutheran Christ Church. Rev. M. L. Gurbert, pastor. On Sunday, Nov. 19, regular service at 10:30 a. m. Religious instruction at 11:40 a. m. Question 128-130. For recitation: Baptism, Part I, and II, week from Sunday, Nov. 26, "Ye are the Church of Christ."

Congregational Church. Rev. William F. Ireland, pastor. Sunday morning worship and sermon by the pastor at 10:30 o'clock. The text will be: "I am among you as one that serveth." Sunday school at 11:45 o'clock. Evening worship at 7:30 and sermon by the pastor. Prayer meeting every Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. On Nov. 23d, our subject will be: "Religion as a Conserving Force." It is the essence of religion to conserve and not to destroy. Pa. 127:1, Matt. 6:13.

DELANVAN

Delavan, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Grace Clemens, whose home is in Clinton Lake, Ill., has just returned from an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. D. B. Barnes in Los Angeles, Cal., and the spending a few days in this city the guest of Mrs. Seth Gregory and other friends.

Deputy Sheriff Andrew Williamson is spending the day in Janesville at present there are a number of cases of chicken pox among the school children.

Stephen Brown arrived here yesterday from Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Marriott returned on Wednesday from Chicago, where they visited friends since last Friday. Mrs. Marriott and daughter, Miss Margaret of Janesville, spent Thursday night and today with the former's sister, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien.

Miss Angie Southwick is now employed as clerk in Howard Williams' jewelry store.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mann have rented a flat in the Fred Van Velsor building and are moving here from Roscoe, where they have lived for the past three months.

Mrs. Martha Underwood of this city, is spending a few days at the home of her son, John.

The working society of the Congregational church, met with Mrs. Frank Mitchell (Wednesday). Refreshments were served and a social hour followed the meeting.

A large crowd attended the Odd Fellows' dance Thursday evening. Music was furnished by the Lee orchestra of three pieces.

Notice: The Gazette is on sale at

Varsity Six Hundredovercoat

a double breasted variation; the style shows in every line. Others are single breasted; some have belt backs.

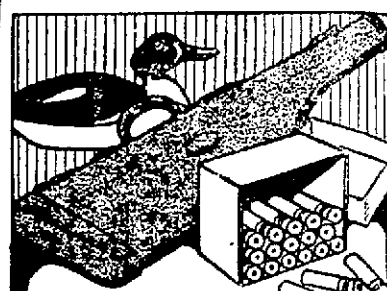

We'll show you something to suit your ideas. The prices are low considering the quality you get—$20 and more.

T. J. ZIEGLER CLOTHING CO.

JOS. M. CONNORS, Mgr.

Specialists of Good Clothes and Nothing Else. The Home of John B. Stetson Hats, Wilson Shirts, Lewis Underwear, Mallory Cravenned Hats, Hart

Rustad's Drug Store, opposite the Post Office.

Let Us Supply Your Sporting Goods

You will find that we are just as enthusiastic about good sport and about good sporting goods as you are. Our first aim is to please and satisfy every sportsman who enters this store, to supply the best that can be had at a given price in sporting goods of all kinds, including guns and ammunition.

In ammunition, for instance, we can give you shotgun shells of various makes loaded with the well-known Infalible Smokeless Powder. It never goes back on a man. That's why we sell it.

Come in some day and look around. If you like the looks of things come again. You will.

PREMO BROS.

21 N. Main St. Hardware & Sporting Goods

Lost and found articles quickly find their owners through the use of the want columns

You'll Find It Here

Electrical Gifts For Christmas

Electric Heating Appliances.
Electric Flashlights.
Electric Fixtures.
Portable Electric Lamps.

Shop early and pay a visit to this busy little shop. You'll find some very desirable Christmas gifts here.

F. A. Albrecht

Electrical Contracts, Supplies and Repairs.
58 S. Main St.

CHRISTMAS GIFT STORES

A directory of holiday suggestions for the shoppers who realize that early selections are always best.

29 Shopping Days To Christmas

MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Make Dandy Gifts

Every time the recipient receives a copy of the favorite magazine it will be with appreciation of your thoughtfulness. We can make some special prices now.

Cigars and Tobaccos

The finest line in the city. All the popular brands of tobaccos and the finest cigars.

A full line of box candles and the best makes of pipes.

BOB HOCKETT

213 W. Main St.

PUTNAM'S

Special Prices On

Thanksgiving China Dinnerware and Fancy China

C.S. Putnam

8 and 10 S. Main St.

As a Christmas Gift

Give something intrinsically good. Our store offers a mine of valuable suggestions. Lorgnettes, Opera Glasses, Auto Goggles, Eye Glass Chains, Lorgnette Chains, Binoculars, Microscopes, Telescopes, Pocket Compasses, Compass Chains, Reading Glasses, Pedometers, Silver Eyeglass Cases, Pocket Magnifiers, and other valuable, enduring things.

THE OPTICAL SHOP

EVERYTHING OPTICAL
60 SOUTH MAIN ST.
NEXT TO THE
JANESVILLE, WIS.

Special at $1 and $1.25

One lot of dainty crepe de Chine Corset Covers with lace sleeves, marked special at $1.00 and $1.25.

DeLuxe Corset Shop

Miss Mabel B. Lamp
11 So. Main St.

Make Your Xmas List Complete With a Beautiful Pearl Necklace

O. H. OLSON, Jeweler

Corner N. Franklin and Corn Exchange

DECORATIVE GREENS FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Place your order for greens early and be thus assured of the choicest selection.

Janesville Floral Company

Edward Amerpohl, Prop.
Office 50 So. Main.